Nacha Mendez

$10 Donation Requested

Nacha's music is an expression of her curiosity, her varied experience and restless passion for living. It refuses to fit neatly into any one genre, fearlessly drawing on a wide range of influences to expand the definition of Latin music. Yet filtered through her powerful voice, these various threads come together in a single unified expression.

Art Committee News

Our February Artist who will present her original oil and watercolor paintings is Adele Caruthers. Her focus has always been the beauty of nature. She moved here in 1990 and joined an outdoor painting group. She will be showing us her vision of nature in New Mexico. We now have a list of artist members who have selected a luncheon month to show their work for show or sale.

From the President

"Happy Valentine's Day to all of you sweethearts. Thanks for your membership, and all you do to make this Club work as it does. A special thank you and recognition for Evelyn McClure who organized, produced, advertised, wrote vignettes for, and presented Feb. 3rd, "Fairview Tales II" about historical figures buried at Fairview Cemetery. "Well-organized", good flow of stories and variety of stories" were some of the audience comments. Evelyn is also this month's newsletter editor, our recording secretary, and a fabulous cookie baker!

I so enjoyed meeting new members last month and getting to know you better. I look forward to seeing old and new members Monday, Feb. 18th."

Carol Rose
President

Member Survey/Member Interests

Thanks to the many of you who have filled out the two member information sheets. We would like to hear from more of you. Please take a few minutes to let us know what you think. ### MEMBERSHIP NEWS

We experienced a blizzard at our January luncheon and it had nothing to do with snow. The welcome greeter and reception desk duo staff were whirling to check in the forty-eight women who came breezing through the door. Five of those attendees were invited guests and of the five, three later signed up as new members. It was a very busy, good day for our organization. Everyone seemed to enjoy the active program presented by NIA trainer, Tallie Tolen, who had our group waving their arms in the air while some of her students showed off exercise/dance expertise.

-Lou Finley

Chizuko Matsumoto performed an impromptu dance at the January 21st SFWC luncheon. She sang and danced to "Sakura Sakura" ("Cherry blossoms, cherry blossoms"), a traditional Japanese folk song depicting spring, the season of cherry blossoms. Chizuko is a new member of SFWC . Thank you Chizuko!

Dolores Whitaker brought some of her special paintings and mixed media art work to the January 21st SFWC luncheon. Dolores is the Chair of the Art Committee and is recruiting more artists to display art at SFWC monthly meetings.

Indigenous Art + Café Lunch

On your Member Surveys, many of you requested ways to get to know each other as well as local SFWC-sponsored outings.

Our first outing will be a docent-led tour at the Ralph T. Coe Center for the Arts, a foundation featuring a private collection of indigenous art dedicated to increasing public awareness, education, and appreciation. The Coe Center's collection represents worldwide indigenous cultures, with its core encompassing the span of historic to contemporary North American Native works. <http://coeartscenter.org/>

The tour will be followed by lunch at Chocolate Maven.
